Robert & Bianca Emery

We managed to celebrate our first wedding anniversary in the house. Robert managed to surprise Bianca with a gift box of presents which he publicly presented to her in Church (Our anniversary happened to be on a Sunday!). Aside from this joy we had the privilege of having a baby lamb born at our house. Nobody saw it happen though! The sheep went off to a quiet place and did her thing! Now we have a lamb!

It was Robert's birthday this month. It was a strange feeling to have it on a bright, hot and sunny day! An incredible different way to experience December but in the summer! This was fun though Robert had to work on his birthday. Also, for those interested, Robert's book Waving Goodbye to Babylon is still available to purchase on Amazon: <https://www.amazon.co.uk/dp/B0CMFLD9TF> - If you buy a copy, please leave a review of the book on Amazon!

On the 20th November we travelled to Caracas to renew Robert's visa for one more year. We had to translate our apostilled wedding certificate into Spanish and officially register our marriage certificate with the Mayor's office in the city. The process of registering it was the most complicated. But, we had all of our documents, so we travelled and applied for it with ease. Robert will not get his visa until after his current visa has expired. But, this is no problem. We applied when we were recommended and so they have given him a document to support his stay in between the visas.

We have a plan in place for the house. The plan of action is: save as much money as possible these next two months. Then pay for repairing the floor, putting ceramic flooring in place, reorganising some walls, building a kitchen, putting the water system in place and buying an oven, fridge & washing machine. Once we have done all of that, we'll be able to move in. There will still be a lot more work to be done after that, but one step at a time.

God makes all things new

Robert had the opportunity of leading a chorus. A chorus is two or three songs that is sang together to encourage the congregation to worship God with passion. It's been uploaded to Social media: @misionemery - 21st November 2023. This wasn't an easy thing to do. But, when we make ourselves available to the Lord He always supplies the strength that we need! This was done with passion and helped him feel more connected to the church, culture and language.

We go into this New Year together with great expectation for what God's going to do through our lives together. We are embarking on a new journey together to start a new family and a new life. If you had told me (Robert) two years ago – "In two years, you will have a wife, your own house and be a huge support for a local church in Venezuela," I would have called you crazy. But as Ecclesiastes 3:11 says: "He has made everything beautiful in its time."

We are also super excited because in January Robert's parents and sister will be visiting Venezuela! This is exciting because it will be their first trip to the Americas. Unfortunately, our house is not ready to receive guests (or even for us to live in for that matter!) but we're sure that there will be more trips and flights. We'll use this time to show them more of Venezuelan culture and how we are living our lives as a married couple. Neither of us imagined two years ago being married without own home on the way! God is good!
